The 2010 Elections Are Crucial

The congressional elections in November 2010 will determine for the most part the political destiny of our nation. Will we survive in any sense as a Republic or will we cave and follow the pathway of dictatorial socialism? Our country is truly hanging in the balance. The election of Scott Brown in Massachusetts gives us all some hope. And if we work hard, we can add to that margin by electing two great candidates from Missouri.

Regarding national elections, Eagle Forum and Missouri Eagle Forum have wholeheartedly endorsed Congressman Roy Blunt, who is making a bid for Senator Kit Bond's senate seat. Congressman Blunt has a 100% pro life voting record. And in 2009, Congressman Blunt voted against the $787 billion stimulus bill, the Democrat's cap-and-tax energy proposal, and the Democrat's government takeover of health care. He must defeat Robin Carnahan, a very liberal activist. Ed Martin, candidate for the 3rd congressional district, has also received an endorsement from Eagle Forum and Missouri Eagle Forum. He stands with us for common sense, and he is an advocate for leaner and more efficient government. He is also committed to slowing down the frantic pace of Congress in their effort to enact radical change. His opponent is Russ Carnahan, the democratic incumbent. Let's stop the Carnahan monarchy and elect 2 great congressmen who will truly represent the people of Missouri.

One of the most important state elections in November is the election of state auditor: Rep. Allen Icet is the candidate for Missouri State Auditor, and he has earned the endorsement of Eagle Forum and Missouri Eagle Forum. The office of State Auditor is a big job, and Allen Icet is the right man for the job. He knows Missouri, and as the Missouri Budget Chair, Allen knows how to keep our state fiscally sound. The outcome of these elections and others around the country will determine the destiny of this great nation that we grew up in and love.

What can we do? We can make calls, give monetarily, stuff envelopes, host meet and greets with friends, coffees, fundraisers, and/or work at the polls. What we do will make a big difference. We are the grassroots, and together we can make it happen! Visit our website www.moeagleforum.org for endorsements after the filings close on Tuesday, March 23rd. You can also find the candidates and learn more about them on their web sites: www.royblunt.com, www.edmartinforcongress.com, and www.icetforAuditor.com

Islam and Political Correctness

By Joan Langenberg

Sadly, it may be that political correctness leads ultimately to the end of our nation as we know it. On Christmas day, 300 lives could have been completely eradicated by the actions of the terrorist Abdulmutallab. Facts implicating his son in Jihadist activities, and communicated to the FBI by the terrorist's father were apparently not taken seriously. Other red flags were dismissed such as his one-way international airline ticket, his cash payment, and the absence of luggage. This was a case of political correctness gone "amuck" combined with gross negligence. The Ft. Hood situation was a disastrous case of political correctness, culminating in the November massacre of 13 brave military men and women. There were even more red flags in this disaster such as the many incendiary emails between the Jihadist psychiatrist Hasan and several terrorist imams in Yemen. These emails were investigated for months by the FBI. But suddenly the case was dropped. Why? Political correctness, of course, and the importance to the military of showcasing diversity in our armed forces. Then there were the classes that Hasan taught, where he praised Jihad and excoriated America. Why was he allowed to say those things? Once again – political correctness combined with a twisted interpretation of our First Amendment rights. In addition to these treasonous activities, Hasan apparently had a "shady" job history, and should never have been hired. Ft. Hood was a total travesty that could have been so easily prevented. For days afterwards, the major networks seemed incapable of saying the word "Muslim" or "terrorist." Of course, it just wasn't PC to do so. And, when President Obama finally found time to address the issue, he couldn't say those two words either. . But most Americans figured it out immediately. CNN in Poland – where I was at the time – repeated day after day, "No motive has been found." Do all these networks really think the American people are that stupid?

Friends, despite what our "state run" media, President Obama, and even former President Bush have said, Islam is NOT a religion of peace. The Koran is replete with violence, jihad, and repression against those who are not Muslims and even towards Muslims themselves – particularly women. Women are treated worse than chattel. Sharia law is repressive and abusive as well. Islam is a total system of control involving "religion," the legal system, the economic system, and the government. The ultimate goal of Islam is to take over every country in the world by force and thereby establish a world Caliphate. Terrorist leaders and imams make this very clear in all their messages to the world. Of course, terrorists such as Hasan and Abdulmutallab are simply doing what the Koran states when they commit Jihad. We are very fortunate that millions of law-abiding Muslim citizens who live in our country choose not to obey the dictates of the Koran or insist on Sharia Law. Personally I feel that many Muslims here agree with the principles of the Koran and Sharia law because they grew up that way, but they choose not to participate in jihad. And several Muslim organizations such as The Muslim Brotherhood and CAIR (whose purposes on the surface are to establish good relationships with Christians) have been implicated with ties to Hamas and other terrorist organizations in the Middle East.

Juval Aviv, former bodyguard to Golda Meir, predicted the London subway bombing a week before it happened. He is now warning that attacks here are imminent in the next few months. Aviv says that we should be most concerned about homegrown terrorists, such as students who travel back and forth. And he is concerned that we have only a handful of people in our intelligence networks who speak Arabic and Farsi. He warns that the next attack will involve suicide bombers and non-suicide bombers in places where large groups of people congregate – such as big cities, shopping malls, Las Vegas casinos, subways at the rush hour, etc. He predicts 5 or 6 simultaneous detonations around the country. He says we need more hands-on examples of human intelligence rather than more satellites and technology. And we need to educate ourselves as citizens. The government continues to block intelligence from its citizens for fear of a widescale panic. But as Aviv says "This is a deadly mistake."

How many more of us will have to die before the bondage of lies and political correctness is broken? We must fight the battle to save our country from Islamic dominance or one day we will for sure become Islamized just like France and now Great Britain – who have caved in to the lies of political correctness. A wonderful website to get onto is Act for America, run by Brigette Gabriel. A former native of Lebanon and persecuted by radical Muslims, Brigette is a real warrior in this battle. And a great book to read on the subject is Cruel and Usual Punishment by Nonie Darwish (alias name to protect her) Nonie grew up in Egypt as a Muslim, and tells the heartbreaking story of that experience. She dispels the myth that Islam is a peaceful religion. In fact she calls Islam evil. We need to educate as many people as possible, including our legislators, about the true nature of Islam and the dire threat that it poses to this nation.

Missouri Holds First State Sovereignty Rally

Missouri's very first State Sovereignty rally was held at the Capitol rotunda January 13th. Approximately 500 people attended. Annette Read with I Heard the People Say introduced the event. We also heard from Kerry Messer, from Missouri Family Network, Cindy McGhee from Show Me Patriots, Bev Ehlen from Concerned Women for America, and myself, Joan Langenberg from Missouri Eagle Forum. The purpose of the state sovereignty as outlined in Care Freedom Act, sponsored by Representative Tim Jones in the and voted for by the people, Constitution. It would protect federal health care bill, and it regarding their health care – would want that. Governor passed. To date, 34 states have

This bill will be one of the top priorities of Missouri Eagle Forum this year. It is so important that we do everything we can to protect ourselves as a state from the destructive repercussions of a national health care bill. First we need to do everything in our power to influence legislators to pass the bill this year, and then we need to inform and influence Missouri Citizens to vote a resounding "YES!"

Capitol Legislative Academy

Missouri's 7th Capitol Legislative Academy on January 5th was a huge success. Over 140 attendees and many state senators and representatives stopped in to welcome all of us to the Capitol. We were thrilled that several teenage groups from different areas of the state also came. Many of them were Teen Eagles from St. Louis as well as a group from Kansas City.

Missouri Eagle forum, Missouri Family Network, and Concerned Women of America of Missouri presented the why's and how's of lobbying. In the afternoon, several mock hearings took place. This is always the most popular session of the day. We would particularly like to thank Janet Engelbach, Ronny Margason, Tina and Dave Polluck, Kerry Messer, and Bev Ehlen for all the time and hard work they devoted to this productive day!

Puppy Mill Hoax

The HSUS is spending almost $20 million on "campaigns, legislation and litigation" – enough to worry any livestock farm family looking to keep their chosen life style alive.

The Humane Society of the United States (HSUS) is collecting signatures for a ballot initiative petition entitled the "Puppy Mill Cruelty Prevention Act." HSUS has attacked modern livestock production practices in several other states and, while the first battle in Missouri is targeted to dog breeders, this is the precursor to a subsequent fight involving our Missouri farm families.

Ballot initiatives and legislative public policy efforts are tools used by the Humane Society of the United States. This is NOT our local humane society. We must do everything possible to protect Missouri Agriculture from these threats. We must aggressively oppose any ballot initiative by these groups.

We do not condone the mistreatment of animals in any manner and we support reasonable and proven standards; at the same time we oppose any ballot initiative or legislation in Missouri that would impose unnecessary and unreasonable regulations for our farmers.

Missouri currently has animal care standards on the books. The ballot initiative would tinker with those standards but does not address the core issue of having the resources necessary to make sure people are following the law. There are no better stewards of animals.

Don't miss this event!

2010 LEGISLATIVE UPDATE From Janet Engelbach

The next four months could prove to be the most challenging any Missouri Legislature has faced. Before anything else, the budget must be tackled. Already, we are looking at a nearly $1 billion revenue shortfall for fiscal year 2011.

10th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

SCR 34 – sponsor which reaffirms Missouri's sovereignty under the Tenth Amendment. This resolution states that sovereignty is defined as the final authority, and the people, not the government, are sovereign.

SJR 25 – sponsor Jane Cunningham, 7th District, along with the House version HJR 57 – sponsor Tim Jones, 8th District, would allow the state of Missouri to let the voters decide on a constitutional amendment that says we don't have to participate in whatever federal health care plan that is decided upon.
